

Standing committees.

The Washington state community college board of trustees has three standing committees. Each committee has three members from the full board serving with one individual serving as chair. The members of the committees are appointed by the chairperson of the board. The president of the college and the appropriate staff as recommended by the president serve to support the work of the committee. The frequency of meetings is determined between the president and the committee chair. The standing committees are:

Finance.

The "finance "committee "reviews "and "monitors the budget development process, and advises the college administration prior to a budget being brought to the board for approval.

Facilities.

The "facilities "committee "annually "reviews "the college facilities plan, and provides advice on the overall capital maintenance of the physical plant.

Marketing and public relations.

The "marketing "and "public "relations "committee "reviews "the college marketing plan, and advises on strategies related to overall marketing of the college and effective public relations.
